Aged Couple Burn to Death

OIL STOVE SETS FIRE TO HOME

Man Helpless in Bed; Both
Were Incinerated Before
Help Arrived

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—John and Annie Morgan, an aged couple living in a small isolated cottage at 412 North Madison street, were burned to death in their home early today as a result of the explosion of an oil stove. Morgan, who was 76 years of age, was a helpless invalid, unable to leave his bed. His wife, 70 years of age, was waiting on him, and it is presumed that she arose during the night and lit the small stove to heat some water and that the stove exploded. Both of the bodies were almost incinerated by the fire, which burned the cottage to the ground. W. S. Addison, a neighbor, had been at the Morgan house until 1:30 last night, sitting up with the invalid. About 2:30 o'clock, after he had returned home, he heard an explosion and running out, saw the Morgan house in flames. He kicked in the front and rear doors of the house in an effort to rescue the inmates, but was braked back by the flames. He summoned the fire department, but they arrived too late to be of any assistance. The Morgans have a son residing in San Francisco. Paul, an adopted son, is in the Los Angeles orphan asylum.

Father M'Sweeney's Strength Increases

The attendance at the bedside of Rev. John M'Sweeney, pastor of the Church of St. Francis de Sales, at the corner of Grove and Market streets, who is recovering from a long illness, has increased today. The priest, who is now in his 80th year, is reported to be in good health and is able to sit up in bed. He is expected to be discharged from the hospital in a few days.

Acid Victims Makes Appearance in Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Lawyer J. L. Jones, the attorney who had been retained by the state to prosecute the case of the acid victims, made his first appearance in court today. He is expected to make a statement regarding the case.

State to Battle With Dread Disease

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 22.—A systematic study of infantile paralysis in this state is being made by State Health Commissioner Porter. He has been watching the prevalence of the disease and says he is fully satisfied that a number of cases exist in various parts of the state. Recognizing the accepted transmissibility, the state health department has put it on the list of quarantinable diseases and now requires it to be reported and quarantined for 21 days.

SHIPS COLLIDE IN DENSE FOG

Tears Hole in Bow, Causing Leak, But Both Vessels
Are Safe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Reports were received here today of a collision last night off the San Francisco lighthouse between the steamer Isthmian and the sailing vessel Tacoma.

Three hundred cannery hands, bound from Alaska on the Tacoma, were thrown into a panic and considerable damage was done to that vessel.

The accident occurred at midnight as the Isthmian bound from this port to Sausalito, was picking her way through the dense fog.

The Tacoma was rammed above the water line, a hole being stove in her starboard bow and some planking torn away.

Later the Tacoma sprang a leak and the Isthmian stood by until it was ascertained that the vessel was in no danger.

The Tacoma was picked up by a tug and towed into port here. She was inbound from Nacnek, Alaska.

Nearly all on the ship were asleep when the Isthmian struck the Tacoma, bow on.

The men on the sailing vessel are inclined to place the blame in charge of the steamer for the accident, as they say their lights were dimmed and their fog horn was blowing up to the time the bow of the Isthmian cut into the wind-lane.

The offense for which Kinard was tried was the embezzlement of $225 from Mrs. Louise Lamprey, alleged to have been committed October 24, 1906. Several times after being taken into custody Kinard was brought into the police court, but he was never prosecuted until after the time limit, and although he was duly sentenced the district court had no alternative but to release him.

Empty "Special" Plunges Into

Holiday Crowd.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 22.—Thirty-nine dead is the toll exacted by the Fort Wayne, Bluffton Interurban disaster yesterday, so far as the check early today shows.

The officials of the company refuse to give an opinion as to who is the responsibility lies. The crew of the "Special" train, which was speeding south from Fort Wayne, empty minutes late it is said, took chances on making a siding and failed.

Six of the injured are in the hospital. Practically all of the dead were persons living near Bluffton.

HOLIDAY TERROR.
It was a holiday through bound for Fort Wayne to attend the State Fair. The local was filled to the last seat, and there were several persons in the aisle or on the platforms. The crash was without warning. The empty "Special" sped out from the woods on a curve and plunged into the "local," which also was running at high speed.

Of all in the car probably sixty passengers, twenty-one escaped injury or death. That an effort will be made to place the blame is made apparent by the action of the Indiana State Board.

Having married the beautiful English singer against the will of his mother, Mrs. Emma Rheinstrom, he attempted to obtain a reconciliation after his mother had disinherited him. After many letters had passed between mother and son, there was promise that the mother would reconsider her.

PAIR CAUGHT GETTING ON TRAIN

Miss Donaldina Cameron Is at Oakland Mole.

The Couple Were Headed for Seattle and Came From Salt Lake City.

Fleeing from Salt Lake City, because of the taboo placed upon her marriage by the Mormon bishops of that city to Kunio Toda, a former artillery officer in the Japanese army, Miss Rayda Reed, a beautiful girl of 18, was found by Miss Donaldina Cameron, head of the Freshwater Japanese and Chinese Mission in San Francisco, at the Oakland mole last night when the two were on their way to Seattle to get married.

Telephoning to Captain of Detectives Peterson, Miss Cameron had the elopement interrupted, and Toda spent the night in the city prison, while his bride-to-be was taken care of at the Y. W. C. A. home at Fourteenth and Castro street. In this city. A telegram has been sent to James A. Reed, father of the girl, who lives in Smithville, a little town on the outskirts of Salt Lake City, and the two will not be allowed to proceed on their way to get married until word has been received from him.

HAN WEIRD INFLUENCE.
A strange infatuation, giving every indication that the Japanese exercises a weird influence over the girl, exists between the American girl and her Japanese lover. Every effort on the part of Miss Cameron and Captain Peterson to break down her resolve to marry Toda has been unavailing, and while in tears, she still insists that she will marry him or take her life.

The elopement, which started from Salt Lake a week ago, and has been delayed by a visit to Los Angeles, has been interrupted for today, but so strong is the influence exerted by the Japanese ex-soldier that without authority from the father, the authorities believe they will find it impossible to do more than delay the nuptials pending the two antagonistic races.

TREATED WITH RESPECT.
That the Japanese, who claims to be a naturalized citizen of the United States and a resident in this country for the last eight years, has treated her with the utmost respect, is the claim made by the girl and the detectives have learned from the conductors and porters on the Owl train, on which the couple came from Los Angeles that they traveled as strangers, while en route to San Francisco, and intended to continue this practice on their way to Seattle.

Tado declares that he has a chicken ranch at Los Angeles, and that he was taking his fiancée to Seattle to get married because the laws of California forbid such a union between the two races.

"I would rather die than give up Kunio," protested Rayda Reed to Captain Peterson and Miss Cameron, tears streaming down her face. "Why shouldn't I marry him, when I love him so? What right have you to stop me? I guess you cannot persuade me not to when the highest bishops in the Mormon church of Salt Lake, who have acted as my friends and advisors since I was

Hanged Self in Cell After Shooting Woman

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—A man believed to be Burton W. Yates, a Detroit business man, committed suicide by hanging in the county jail today, an hour after he had been lodged there for the slaying of a woman identified as Mrs. Fred Singer of Cleveland, formerly of Detroit in a roadhouse at Rocky River.

The woman was taken to a hospital in a taxicab which the man thought to be Yates summoned to the roadhouse. She probably will recover.

The shooting followed a day of aimless rides and visits to wine rooms.

Police Raid Tenderloin; Station House Crowded

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A police descent on the Tenderloin in the early hours today was featured by several of the most spectacular raids in years on alleged illegal resorts. Plain clothes men swarmed through the district and arrests were made right and left. Two police stations were crowded by prisoners taken from the raids and as a result of the round-up of women of the district found on the streets during the night.

The activities of the official force caused intense excitement in the Tenderloin, crowds following the raiders about and waiting the results of their operations. Agents of Raymond Fosdick, commissioner of accounts, whose investigation of Tenderloin conditions brought about by Acting Mayor Mitchell's recent complaint against Police Commissioner Baker, were out in numbers, following the course of the police and seeking evidence for the grand jury probing of gambling and vice conditions now in progress. It was expected that Commissioner Baker would be one of the witnesses called by the grand jury today.

The couple arrived at the roadhouse shortly after midnight.

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—The mental condition of Burton W. Yates had been causing his relatives and friends considerable anxiety for six months. Yates is said to have been off by his father a fortune of nearly a half million dollars, but under conditions that gave him control of the income. He had lumbered and increased in Canada and Ohio and was well known as an enthusiastic courier.

Inside Facts

YOU GET OUT OF A MADE-TO-ORDER SUIT JUST WHAT THE TAILOR PUTS INTO IT.

What the tailor puts into it is often mistaken for what he puts onto it.

Here is a good definition once given of a Dude: "ALL THERE IS OF HIM IS WHAT THERE IS ON HIM!"

It's as hard for a good tailor to put SNAP AND STYLE into a poor piece of cloth as it is for a poor tailor to put LIFE, WEAR AND STRENGTH into a good piece of cloth.

SO IF YOU THINK TWICE ABOUT THE MATTER you will realize that given good cloth and the average tailor, THE IMPORTANT THING then in the construction of a MADE-TO-ORDER SUIT IS THE ATTENTION given to the INSIDE OUT-OF-SIGHT parts of the suit.

This is what we lay particular STRESS upon: this is what PRODUCES THE COMFORTABLE COATS for us with collars setting well to the neck, and with clean shoulders; this is what PRODUCES SLEEVES for us that HANG WELL; this is what PRODUCES BACKS AND FRONTS for us that BALANCE PROPERLY; what PRODUCES SHOULDERS that DO NOT BREAK, THAT OBVIATES, CROSS-WRINKLES under the collar, and that orders the lines of the trousers to march straight.

That's all for today.

Women Fight Fire, Which Threatens Their Homes

FORM BUCKET BRIGADE TO COMBAT FLAMES AT BIG RESIDENCE FIRE

Many Dwellings Destroyed or Guttured in North Oakland, With $55,000 Loss; Wind Drives Fire to Nearby Homes

Women who hastily formed a neighborhood bucket brigade did the first fire-fighting when flames began to rage among the pretty homes about the corner of Thirty-sixth and West streets at 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, drawing thousands of residents and the entire fire department to the scene.

It was the biggest and most spectacular fire that has disgraced a residence district of Oakland for many years, causing an approximate damage of $55,000, and having the added interest of the women's brave fight for their homes.

HOMELESS RESIDENTS.

Many residents of the district are today without permanent abiding places as a result of the sudden disaster, and the losses on household goods, as well as dwellings, has been a serious blow to them.

That the fire was confined to the complete destruction of a storage warehouse and four residences on Thirty-sixth street, the gutting of four dwellings on West and the igniting of a half dozen in the neighborhood, was due in part to the plucky and prompt action of a bucket brigade of women and girls of West street, who did not become hysterical or lose their heads.

As soon as the flames leaped from the stable back of the warehouse of the American Storage Company, 306 1/2 Thirty-sixth street, where they originated, and ignited the rear portion of the warehouse, the occupants of the houses who at that time of day were mostly women, set to work with pails, which they filled from household faucets, and threw water in large quantities upon the backs of the residences. If the women were frightened even for one brief instant the scare only sufficed to stimulate their greater fire-fighting efforts.

WATER GIVES OUT.

They were working with might and main and making some headway in discouraging the insistent tongues of flame that loomed upon back streets and roofs when the water gave out. The faucets refused to yield more than a trickle and the fair firewomen realized that the homes in that block were supplied with water from a tank with which E. T. Leiter furnished the tenants living in his numerous houses in that neighborhood.

The steady drain upon the tank during the day had almost emptied it, and the bucket-brigade had to abandon its efforts.

HELPED FIREMEN.

But by that time the city fire department had arrived to relieve them. The brave "home guards" had prevented the entire destruction of the three shingled two-story flats and a cottage belonging to Leiter, on West street, for a heavy wind was driving the flames so rapidly that, unchecked, they would have practically consumed the four dwellings before the regular department's streams were put in action.

Mrs. W. T. Deane, of 3609 West street was alone at home with her three young children, when the fire broke out. She was a manager of the Amador mine, being absent from the city. She quieted the fears of her little ones and coolly headed the women fire-fighters from adjoining houses.

She was joined by Mrs. E. S. Culver, 3607 West street, wife of an old-time newspaperman; Mrs. Frederick Marr, 3611 West street, wife of a pastor of the Fourth Congregational church; her daughter, Miss Elsie Marr, a prominent Oakland High School girl, and others.

After they had done their best and their bravest with the buckets and a faltering water supply, they turned their attention to removing the contents of most of the houses. The homes of Mrs. Marr, who is in poor health, was absent from home in consultation with his physician. But his daughter and son, Sidney, arrived from school in time to assist Mrs. Marr and the neighbors in removing the furnishings from their home to a space across the street. Rev. Marr hurried home later and aided in the work.

Mrs. Edwin Culver, of 3521 West street, wife of the manager of a hospital ambulance transfer concern, arrived in her home before the fire broke out and neighbors removed her tenderly to a nearby house. There all her furniture was taken to a place of safety.

FIRE'S RAPID SPREAD.

Mrs. Fannie Baxley, an aged widow, was alone in the upper part of the house occupied by the Culvers, which suffered the worst of any of the dwellings in West street. The flames spread so rapidly that she and her neighbors were unable to save any of her furniture, which she valued at $1500.

E. T. Leiter, head of the contracting firm of Leiter & Co., and owner of most of the destroyed residences, refused to be "burnt out." His attitude was due to the fact that he occupies one of the few brick houses in the vicinity, or in the city, for that matter. It hasn't been long since he completed a $15,000 brick residence at the corner of Thirty-sixth and West streets, and while dwellings were burning all around him yesterday, the brick of his home defied the flames, although they grew exceedingly hot.

FIREBRANDS SPREAD BLAZE.

His house was far safer than that of Mrs. H. B. Hawkinson at 431 Thirty-sixth street, more than half a block away from the nearest burning dwelling. The fire started in the rear of a family from home a firebrand driven by the wind alighted on her roof, which had to be partially destroyed by firemen's axes before the flames were extinguished. Part of the blaze was extinguished. A large portion of the spectators were drawn away from the main attraction by this unusual and unexpected blaze. The people in the block when they returned home after all the fire was out and found themselves roofless, so far from the big conflagration.

The fire started mysteriously in the rear of the American Storage Company's warehouse, built of corrugated iron. The origin of the blaze which caused so much havoc cannot be accounted for by the owner of the building, Frank J. Fabiano, of 307 Thirty-sixth street.

The fire quickly consumed the furniture and other effects in storage and then spread to the residence of Kenneth Lawton, 304 Thirty-sixth street, adjoining on the east, and to the house on the West side, Nos. 303, 310 and 312, which were totally destroyed. Their occupants managed to save but little of their household goods.

The home of Deputy County Assessor Thomas M. Robinson at 814 Thirty-sixth street, was seriously damaged, but escaped with slight damage. The family were prepared, however, to move their household goods at a moment's notice.

The flames continued their work for an hour and a half, although the fire department, under the direction of Marshal Hall and Assistant Chief George McDonald, did valiant work, after their prompt response. The engines were connected to several hydrants in the vicinity and the numerous streams in operation caused home owners in the neighborhood to escape with slight damage.

Household furnishings and sobbing, homeless women filled the streets until long after midnight. Many of the residents finding temporary shelter with neighborhood friends.

The fire was discovered in the warehouse by passersby, but when efforts were made to telephone to the fire station, the line was busy for several minutes and there was a delay in notifying the department. An alarm was later turned in from a nearby box.

DAMAGES HEAVY.
The total damages resulting from the disastrous fire of yesterday afternoon amounted to approximately $55,000. Four residences, those of E. T. Leiter, owned by E. T. Leiter, 306 1/2 Thirty-sixth street, valued at $3500; furniture $700, warehouse of American Storage Company, $2500; goods stored, $14,600; Adolph Theisen, 308 Thirty-sixth street, $900; furniture, $850; Raymond E. Chapell, 810 Thirty-sixth street, $750; furniture $750; Nathan Blumstein, 812 Thirty-sixth street, $4000; furniture, $800, were burned to the ground. The residence of Thomas M. Robinson, chief deputy in the county assessor's office, 814 Thirty-sixth street, was damaged to the extent of $100, with no furniture loss and at one time was threatened with destruction. The residence of Raymond E. Chapell, a salesman, was the property of Adolph E. Theisen, who also owned his own residence at 814 Thirty-sixth street.

PROPERTY OWNER SUFFERS.
E. T. Leiter, whose large and substantial home was constructed at a cost of $15,000, at 3601 West street, withstood the ravages of the rapidly spreading flames, was nevertheless a heavy loser because of the fire.

Damages to property owned by him amounted to about $3500. On this there was about $4750 insurance. The residence of J. S. Evans, 3635 West street, is practically a total loss. The entire upper floor was burned away, and the lower floor scorched to such an extent that the house is a ruin. The structure was valued at $2500 and the furniture at $600.

Three double houses belonging to E. T. Leiter, Nos. 3609, 3611 and 3633 West street, sustained damages amounting to $3250. This was partly covered by insurance. The occupants of these houses also suffered losses, the furniture in many cases being ruined. These damages follow: E. S. Culver, lower floor of 3609 West street, $550; W. F. Deane, upper floor No. 3608, $500; Rev. Frederick H. Marr, $500; Edwin Culver, 3621 West street, $150; Mrs. Fannie Baxley, 3633 West street, $1100; one-third insured.

The residence of Kenneth A. Lawton, a per hanger, was burned to the ground within a half hour after the fire started in the rear of the home of A. R. Theisen, 308 Thirty-sixth street. The fire quickly spread in both directions, toward Thirty-sixth street on the south and West street on the east, the wind changing its direction as it urged on the flames. Theisen's home and his other house at 810 Thirty-sixth street were partly insured. Nathan Blumstein, a tailor, living at 812 Thirty-sixth street, whose home was practically wiped out by the flames, held

DIAMOND RING STOLEN AT FIRE

H. E. Chapell, 810 Thirty-sixth street, whose house was burned to the ground in the disastrous residence fire of yesterday afternoon, reported to the police this morning that a solitary diamond ring, valued at $100, was stolen.

The ring was left in the pantry, and immediately after the flames took hold of the house he went in search of it. He was certain that it had not been moved during the day.

This was shortly after the fire started, so the thief who took advantage of the situation and the misfortune of Chapell must have secured the jewel quickly.

Fabiano, Jr., said that the plan was partly insured, although he did not know for how much.

WOMAN FAINTS.
When Mrs. Frank Fabiano, Jr., returned from the office of Dr. Add, to which she had been with her ill husband, the sight of the crowd in front of her home, the fire, engines pumping and steaming and the excitement and anxiety over the safety of her 12-year-old daughter, Ellen, was too much for her and she fainted and her son rushed to her assistance.

While the Fabianos were away, the neighbors, fearing for the safety of the Fabiano home, broke into the house at 307 Thirty-sixth street, and took measures to safeguard the structure. A small fire alarm was played on the house until danger passed.

Fabiano, who is the head of the American Storage Company, then learned of the loss of his warehouse.

ANOTHER FAMILY ADSDNT.
Mrs. Fabiano, after regaining consciousness, asked anxiously for her daughter, but was reassured.

The family of J. S. Evans, a painter, at 3635 West street, was a sad sight from home. They had moved into the house on the day before. Neighbors broke into the dwelling and saved the furniture.

Because the persons who gave the fire alarm were unable to break open the box quickly and because others could not get the central fire station by telephone for several minutes, the arrival of the apparatus was delayed.

ALL APPARATUS RESPONDED.
All the fire apparatus in the city was on the scene, but only that from the station used. The company's light engine, the fire engine No. 4 of East Oakland, Company No. 5 from Market Street, No. 8 from the Commercial district, and No. 1 from the Fifty-third street station.

By the time the first fire engine put in an appearance three residences were already in flames. It was once all the firemen did good work at the fire, especially a view of the fact that it was burning in every direction. As soon as the alarm was received the fire fighters made fast time to the scene of the fire.

HAZERS DISFIGURE YOUTHS FOR LIFE

Blacken Faces With Shoe Dye; Parents to Prosecute Secret Society.

YORK, Pa., Sept. 21. — In the course of an initiation into one of the debating Greek letter societies of the York High school ten initiates were treated to a course of sprouts, one stunt of which consisted of painting on their faces a black material said to have been an oil preparation which is commonly used in dyeing shoes black. As a result the faces of the boys went to the hospital and in permanent disfigurement.

Parents of the injured lads have put the matter into the hands of District Attorney Sherwood for prosecution.

After compelling the initiates to go through several of more or less humiliating processes, it is said that a former member stepped forward, brush in hand, and applied to the boys' faces the concoction said to have been black coal dye.

Some of the boys went to physicians for treatment, and were told that in all probability they would carry the reminders of their night of initiation around with them always. That set the parents agog, and now the matter has become a scandal in this city.

DICKINSON PRAISES

GROWTH OF CHINA

PEKIN, Sept. 22. — Officials of the Chinese foreign board gave a banquet last night in honor of Jacob M. Dickinson, American secretary of war.

In response to an address of welcome Dickinson said the United States could look with satisfaction on the strides which China was making in the development of her commerce.

"So I observed," dryly retorted the deacon who had passed the plate—Harper's.

Melvin and Lennon Praised by Organization in Two Sets of Strong Resolutions

FUMES OF GASOLINE CAUSED GIRL'S DEATH

Verdict of Coroner's Jury in the Case of Florence Pardee.

At the inquest yesterday, at San Rafael, over the remains of the late Miss Florence Pardee, daughter of ex-Governor George C. Pardee, who was killed in an automobile accident two weeks ago near Corte Madera, Marin county, a verdict was returned by the jury to the effect that none of the persons who were in the auto at the time of the accident were responsible for the tragedy.

It was the impression of the jurors who sat in the inquest that death had been occasioned by the inhaling by the unfortunate young woman, of fumes from the gasoline reservoir of the dismantled machine.

This opinion was formed because of the professional views on the matter of Dr. John H. Kuser, county physician of Marin county.

There were only two witnesses heard in the matter—Herman J. Sadler of this city, who was acting as chauffeur, and William B. Bryan, also of Oakland, who was in the vehicle at the same time.

Sadler stated that he was unable to account for the machine leaving the plane of the road and toppling over, for the reason that, at the time, he was driving at a rate of not more than six miles an hour.

TANK EMPTIED INTO FACE.

As soon as the vehicle was overturned, Sadler stated that he found Miss Pardee pinned under it and that he endeavored to release her from the weight which was pressing her to the ground. At the same time, he discovered that the contents of the gasoline tank had been emptied into her face. Handkerchiefs were used to keep the fumes of the liquid from entering the lungs of the victim, while willing hands were endeavoring to raise the overturned auto.

A verdict was returned in accordance with the faces.

JUDGE PICKS AGE IN 3-CARD MONTE

When Detective Shows Him Game He Proves to Be Good Player.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 20. — The singular prowess of Ah Sin, the Heathen Chinese of Bret Harte's celebrated poem in playing "the game he did not understand," was matched by Magistrate Freschi in the Yorkville Night Court.

Detective Cassanova and McKenna of Police Headquarters brought before him Edward McAllister of No. 228 West Thirty-seventh street and John Leaver of No. 272 Schermerhorn street, Brooklyn, whom they caught when they raided a three-card monte game yesterday afternoon at Sixth avenue and Twenty-eighth street.

Detective Cassanova tried to explain the game to the Magistrate, who still looked puzzled. Finally Cassanova put three cards on the desk before the judge.

"Now, Your Honor, pick out the ace," he said.

The Magistrate, did. Cassanova was surprised, to put it mildly. He dealt the cards again. The Magistrate again pointed to the ace. Then he did it a third time. Respect for the majesty of the law prevented Cassanova from acting as Bret Harte's characters did under similar circumstances toward Ah Sin.

UNIVERSITY STUDENT

GETS FIRST PAPERS

BERKELEY, Sept. 22.—Claiming that he had fulfilled the letter of the naturalization law which requires that a petitioner for citizenship papers must be signed by persons who have known the petitioner for five years, Hugh Bliss Goldover, a student of the university was granted his first papers yesterday. Goldover's petition was signed by two persons, one of whom had known him for three and the other for five years. His attorneys contended that the law had been complied with and won their contention.

When Roosevelt Sought Office.

From an editorial in the Outlook, written "in Mr. Roosevelt's absence and without his knowledge; but we speak with authority," occurs this statement:

"Mr. Roosevelt has once and only once in his distinguished career asked for office. He raised a regiment of Rough Riders for the Spanish war" and asked "that he be permitted to serve under Colonel Wood as Lieutenant-colonel."

In a letter to the Springfield Republican, Mrs. Bellamy Storer, wife of Mr. Roosevelt's ambassador to Austria-Hungary, says Roosevelt requested her husband to urge President McKinley to appoint him (Colonel Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy. This was after the Presidential election of 1896. As a matter of fact, Mr. Storer, then a member of Congress from Ohio, did urge Roosevelt's appointment and President McKinley did appoint him Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Mrs. Storer quotes the following letter from Roosevelt to Storer, dated November 17, 1896, in support of her statement:

"Dear Bellamy: I have been thinking over that business, now will you let me write perfectly frankly?"

"If you care to say anything for me, old fellow, I think you could say it better a good deal if I were away. So unless you think to the contrary, or unless there is some reason for change, I believe that it would be best for me to come and dine with you, and then you see McKinley by yourself, if you care to do so at all, which I earnestly hope you will. Give my best love to Mrs. Storer. Faithfully yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

"P. S.—I hope you won't think this impertinent. I should rather have you speak in my behalf than any one in the United States; and I think you could do the most good, but I rather hate to go there with you, for somehow it does not seem to me that it would be a good thing for you to speak for me before me.—T. R."

In this letter Roosevelt did not say what it was he wanted, but it is plain that he wanted some appointment from McKinley and asked Storer, who was a close friend of McKinley's, to solicit it for him. Therefore the letter is a conclusive refutation of the Outlook's statement. What subsequently transpired confirms Mrs. Storer's statement that Roosevelt sought the appointment he received and begged Storer to assist him in getting it.

There was no wrong in this, for it is not dishonorable to seek honorable office in an honorable way, but when a man claims that offices came to him without his seeking them it is just as well that the facts should be made known.

The value of the direct primary as an instrumentality for promoting political morality has been strikingly illustrated in Illinois. Of the fifty-three Democrats in the last Legislature who voted to send William Lottimer, Republican, to the United States Senate, thirty-three were candidates for re-nomination. In the primaries twenty-two of them won out. Among the winners was Lee O'Neil Brown, the Democratic Assembly leader, who was charged with distributing bribe money among his party associates. Others implicated in the alleged bribery and the "jackpot" scandal were re-nominated.

The Old Guard's Last Stand.

Colonel Roosevelt appears to have the Old Guard on the hip. Federal and State patronage have accomplished what the Colonel failed to do in the primaries. Deception has left the Old Guard with thinned ranks and a hopeless cause. Whole battalions have gone over to the exile returned from Elba. He has real tickets to the State and National pie counters, and the call of hunger has proved stronger than the call of principle. John Dwight, Republican whip of the House, devoted follower of Uncle Joe Cannon and close friend of Sunny Jim Sherman, has gone over with all his forces to the Sultan of Oyster Bay. Enough Old Guard delegates deserted to the enemy in Schenectady county to give Roosevelt control of the convention.

There will be more defections. Defeat will soon be turned into a rout. The Old Guard may dress ranks to meet the last charge of the Rough Riders, but their shout of defiance will be a death rattle. The insidious argument of patronage has left Woodruff, Barnes et al without a leg to stand on, so to speak. With the commissary stores in the hands of the enemy, they cannot hope to win. The President and the Governor are both against them, and the President and the Governor have got plum cakes to distribute. Plum cake has always been a powerful magnet in politics. When plum cake is on the side of high political morality it is invincible. Thus is vice overthrown and virtue rewarded.

No matter who is nominated for Governor, Colonel Roosevelt will lead the Republican party in New York in this campaign. The result of the poll in November will be watched with extraordinary interest all over the country because of the bearing it will have on the Presidential election two years hence. If Roosevelt is a candidate for a third term, as is now generally believed, a Republican victory in the Empire State will be a tremendous boost for his aspirations. A defeat will be a setback. But the Colonel may be only intending to play Warwick and not wear the crown. If that be his intention, he will probably select a candidate for Governor with an eye to nominating him for President in 1912.

But the plot will develop after the curtain rolls up. The Colonel holds the center of the stage and we have only to watch what is going on under the limelight. The nomination of William Leach, now collector of the port of New York, but formerly Roosevelt's facile private secretary, will be accepted as notice that the Colonel wants another term.

Joe Powers, who was four times tried for murder, three times convicted and twice sentenced to be hanged, has been nominated for Congress in the Eleventh Kentucky district, the land of family feuds and border frays. Powers was pardoned by Governor Willson, and became a candidate for Congress as a vindication. We suspect that a majority of the men who voted for him believe he is guilty and are glad Governor Goebel was killed. His nomination therefore is more an approval of his deed than an expression of belief in his innocence. Goebel was shot from a window in the offices occupied by Powers as Secretary of State. Powers may not have actively participated in the crime, but it is hard to believe that he did not have guilty knowledge of it. His nomination is no credit to the Republican party nor to Kentucky either. Political assassination is not a crime to be condoned. In the case of Powers it appears to be a title of honor.

Joe Folk will have to be classed among the undesirables. The Missouri Democrats have endorsed him as a candidate for the Presidency. Texas led off with Joe Bailey, and Georgia followed suit with Hoke Smith. Arkansas has not yet presented Jeff Davis as the statesman of the hour, but old Missouri—"show me"—waltzes to the center with Joe Folk, which is the best entry thus far. But when the Democratic convention meets all these favorite sons of the South will be forgotten. The nominee will have to be taken from north of the Ohio.

Looking for a Candidate

NEW YORK WORLD.

Prompt Action Is Necessary.

The Governor should not call another extra session of the Legislature unless the act submitting the constitutional amendment providing for a bond issue in support of the Panama-Pacific Exposition is fatally defective. If the amendment will prove invalid in its present form, then the Governor should call the Legislature together and have the act amended.

But it is extraordinary that the gentlemen who had this exposition matter in hand should have allowed the bill to go through in a defective form. Capable lawyers should have scanned the bill at every stage of the proceedings and made sure that it was right in all respects. To let it go through and be signed by the Governor in a defective form was a piece of gross carelessness. For this neglect the representatives of San Francisco are alone to blame. They had charge of the bill and should have guarded it at all points. To say now after the Legislature has adjourned that the words were mysteriously dropped out of the bill between the time it passed the first reading till it went into the Governor's hands is a confession of neglectful oversight.

The extra session was called at the behest of San Francisco. All the legislation enacted was proposed by San Francisco. The bills were prepared by representatives of that city. Consequently the blame for defects cannot be shouldered off to others.

However, it is of little avail now to point out who is blameworthy. The thing to do is to repair the mischief. If the act is defective the Legislature should be called together at once to amend it. Without the pledge of State aid San Francisco stands in grave danger of losing the exposition. We must act quickly for the time is short and delay is dangerous.

Colonel Bryan has bolted the Democratic nominee for Governor in Nebraska, but he has never forgiven the men he read out of the party in 1896 for voting against him. Bolting is a privilege Colonel Bryan reserves for himself.

Live Church in Live City

By REV. W. D. SIMMONS, of First Unitarian Church.

REV. W. D. SIMMONS.

Five years ago Oakland was a sleepy village. Today she is an awakened city, doing big things and planning bigger things for the future. One of the oldest ministers of Oakland, in point of service, is authority for the statement that the churches of Oakland have not shared in this awakening. That on the whole they are more numerous, and no more prosperous, particularly in the downtown district, than five years ago, although the population has doubled in the last half decade.

The reason for this unfortunate condition is plain to all who are willing to face the truth. And all who are willing to face the truth admit that it is an unfortunate condition, for no civilization has ever long outlived its religion, or the incarnation of that religion in a revered church. We have not the slightest reason to believe that it is possible to permanently maintain a civilization without that development of character which even an imperfect religion directly begets always produces. When life is reduced to a scramble for wealth and pleasure in the little space between the cradle and the grave it becomes too selfish, too selfish to yield anything noble. And so civilization perishes for the want of a vision of truth, beauty and goodness. Luxury and pleasure sap the vitality of the people and society falls.

The condition is serious. What is the remedy? Man is a creature moved by motives. When old motives fail, when old incentives lose their power, new and better ones must be forthcoming. Is it possible to arouse new motives that will give power and dignity to the religious life? Are there new incentives, if we but lay hold of them, to purity, to sacrifice, to nobility of living? Can a people abandon old superstitions, false fears, unreal hopes, and then maintain vigorous life and healthy growth in the face of a world and a religion? These are the supreme questions of the hour for churches, ministers, scientists, and for all who love their fellow men and labor for the common good.

Other Worlds

Whatever other worlds may be, I only hope that those realms of bliss, I only hope that those realms of bliss, will turn out half as good as this. The grass cannot be greener there, Nor any birds that sweeter sing; Nor can there be a softer air Than that that comes with dancing springs. Can summer breezes softer blow? Can any stars wear friendlier mien? With any smother richer glow Than those that hover with us here? Are flowers sweeter to the sense, Can roses tell us more of love, Or daisies with more magnificence, In other worlds we know not of? Nowhere can sunbeams happier play Than on this blessed earth we know; And even when the days are gray, And all is hid in drift and snow, What rarer joys can there beguile, When twilight with its peace hath come. Than that unfading radiant smile With which Affection calls us home? —John Kendrick Bangs, in Almanac.

NEW YORK'S POPULATION

Leaving aside the figures of large cities, New York city now has a population greater than many of the countries of the world. For instance, Australia in 1908 had within its borders 4,275,804 persons, exclusive of aborigines, while Ireland last year had a population of 4,374,168. Bulgaria in 1908 showed a census return of 4,158,409, and Denmark and Greece respectively had 2,859,000 and 2,632,000 subjects to their kings. Norway in the same year was populated by 2,350,788 persons and Switzerland by 2,659,000.

New York's gain in population has been as steady as it has been large. In 1890, just after the bill creating Greater New York became effective, the population of the city was 3,457,202. Five years later it had grown to 4,000,403, or at about the rate of 100,000 a year. And at the same time every one of its suburbs, not including the greater city, was growing proportionately.

New York is the first Irish city in the world. Belfast, the largest city in Ireland, has a population of only 49,000.

While New York has nearly 600,000 Irishmen among its millions, New York is the real metropolis of the Jewish race. Two years ago it had a Jewish population of 225,000, and today that has probably been increased by at least 100,000. Warsaw, in Poland, has not quite 300,000 Jews, and it is supposed that there are more Jews there than in any other one city in Europe.

And as for Germans, New York is the third German city of the world, with more than 750,000 German inhabitants. Berlin and Hamburg alone, in Germany, have greater populations of Germans than New York.

New York is the second Austrian city in the world, the sixth Norwegian, the seventh Italian and the eighth Russian.

In comparison with New York the great capitals of Europe are provincial in their meager cosmopolitanism.

London has but 750,000 Germans, 40,000 Russians, 25,000 Frenchmen, 25,000 Poles, while Paris has but 200,000 foreign residents, of whom the largest number are Belgians, themselves almost French.

There are about 35,000 Germans in Paris, about 30,000 English, 10,000 Americans, 30,000 Italians and 25,000 Swedes.

And then, mothers, you might just as well make up your minds to see a few soiled garments hanging on the foot of the bed when the boy turns in for the night. He couldn't wait until he got his football clothes on and, of course, some one had to fall on the grass, so it was an unavoidable accident, really.

Don't growl at the kid if his hair isn't combed when he comes home at night. He is undergoing the preliminary process of becoming a man. If he don't play football his chances are good for becoming a "sissy" and don't ever allow your kid to become a "sissy" even if you have to whip it out of him. Even in this day of spectacles there is no place in the world for a "sissy."—O'tawa Herald.

The season of the stained juvenile duds is at hand. With the first cool weather after the beginning of school the first thing that is absolutely necessary to the existence of the American boy is a run and a kick at a football. There is no substitute for it. Neither work nor any other form of exercise will take the place of the football scrimmage, at least in the boy's mind.

The preliminaries are just now being enacted. The grade boys have purchased their fall boots and are just now organizing a corporation for the purchase of a football. As soon as the lads choose a treasurer to collect the dues and pay for the football the game will begin after school hours.

Such standard pianos as the old reliable Decker, the Hobart M. TAWNEY TALKS

ABOUT DEFEAT

Congressman Says It Was Not Due to the Bolt of Republicans.

WINONA, Minn., Sept. 22.—Congressman James A. Tawney gave out the following statement today concerning the result of yesterday's primary election in the first district of Minnesota, which nominated Sidney Anderson of Lanesboro for congress by a majority estimated at from 2500 to 3000.

"My defeat cannot be charged to the bolt of Republicans. In seven of ten counties in this district there were no contests for any Democratic nomination. One vote, therefore, in these counties would nominate the Democratic candidates. Throughout the primary campaign the Democrats talked against me and worked for my opponent. They boldly declared they would vote for him in order to defeat me. Under our primary law this could not be prevented.

DEMOCRATIC VOTE LIGHT.

"The Democratic vote in these seven counties two years ago was over 7000. In the primary election yesterday in these counties there were less than 150 Democratic votes cast. In a single precinct in one county there were 79 more Republican ballots than were cast for President Taft in the same precinct two years ago.

Oakland Actress Wins Laurels at Los Angeles in Play of "Strong Heart."

Mrs. Grace Travers, the Oakland actress, whose recent suit for divorce against her husband, Dr. Harry P. Travers, on the ground of non-support, created a sensation in theatrical and club circles about the bay, is winning laurels for herself at the Burbank Theater, Los Angeles, in the great western play, "Strong Heart."

Mrs. Travers plays the part of Dorothy Nelson and she plays it well, so well in fact that she is making quite a hit in the southern city, and is winning hearts by the score, not alone for her own personal charm, but for the strength and individuality she puts into the character she portrays.

PORTER CHARLTON DEPRAVED, IS VERDICT

Gotham Alienists Find He Is a Victim of Constitutional Inferiority.

ANTECEDENTS SHOWED TRACES OF INSANITY

Underwent Change at Time He Met Wife; Became Insolent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The report of the alienists who examined Porter Charlton, self confessed murderer of his wife at Lake Como, Italy, last June, has been made public at Jersey City, where Charlton is confined. Judge Blair, of the Hudson county court declined yesterday to receive the report on the ground that he had no jurisdiction as a committing court, to consider such a plan.

The alienists who examined the prisoner were Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, Dr. Edward D. Fisher and Dr. W. J. Arkitt.

They declare that Charlton is "of depraved mental organization and is a victim of what is known to students of mental diseases as constitutional inferiority."

PROBE ANTECEDENTS.

The alienists investigated the personal antecedents of the prisoner and found that this grandfather was a paranoiac that a first cousin was an epileptic and that a maternal uncle "was a man of stubborn and brutal nature and eccentric, immoral and vagabond tendencies. A younger brother accidentally shot and killed a playmate but showed no subsequent remorse. On one occasion Charlton raised a chair to strike his mother and on another vented his blind rage on a horse.

"He was faithful, wrote verse, and was delicate and to a degree sentimental," the reports find.

UNDERGOES CHANGE.

"Almost from the time of meeting with his wife," the report states, "Charlton underwent a change. He became greatly detached, aloof, indifferent and at times insolent. On the day of the murder it appears that Charlton kept his temper up to a certain point, when suddenly he seized a mallet.

"After the killing he immediately laid down near the body and slept until the next morning. He does not seem to have been agitated or worried. Placing the corpse in an empty trunk, he slept most of the day in their bed room, near the trunk and afterward left the place.

"He made no serious attempt to destroy the evidence of his crime. His attempts at concealing his identity were silly.

EMOTIONAL IN JAIL.

"When first seen at the jail, he was very emotional. His facial muscles were the seat of jerky tremors and his actions were exceedingly nervous. There was also constant tremors of his hands and tongue.

"When reference was made to the dead woman, his face contracted in spasms, his eyeballs being drawn upward so that only the whites were observed.

"There is no doubt that he has had hallucinatory visions of the dead woman at various times.

"He feels no remorse or fear of the law, nor does he seem to be alive to the danger of his position. All his discussions of it are abstract and he cannot be aroused to the heinousness of what he has done.

"His physical condition reveals little or nothing but hysterical stigmata. His color sense is constricted. His deep reflexes are exaggerated.

UN SOUND MIND.

"It is our opinion that he is of unsound mind and liable to attacks of impulsive violence and that his moral sense is pathologically depraved. The murder of June 6 and his subsequent behavior indicates us to think that he suffered from an exhaustive psychosis due to excess and in a way the nature of the explosion which was preceded by a storm. His long sleep at the side of the body has impressed at least one of us with the idea that the act was performed as the result of an epileptic form seizure, during which he was not responsible.

"He should be taken to a hospital for the insane and there kept indefinitely, for he is likely at any time to be a menace to society."

FAILS TO TRANSMUTE METALS; GOES TO JAIL

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 22.—Unable to convince skeptics that he could transmute base metals into silver, E. D. Gleason, the Philadelphian chemist who was said to have sold Dr. E. W. Lange of this city the alchemical "secret" which brought so much fame to the latter a few months ago, was landed in the county jail last night after a contempt of court of $1000 had on charges of forgery and false pretense preferred by Dr. Lange.

A. O. Glanger, a Philadelphian who was about to purchase a similar secret from Gleason when the latter was arrested on the Lange charge, agreed to go his bail if convinced that the process was what Gleason represented. Last night Glanger and two other chemists watched an experiment by Gleason and it failed to satisfy them.

GRAIN FIRMS AGREE TO RAISE IN WAGES

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 22.—An agreement was made late yesterday that three grain exporting firms had signed an agreement which grants the demands of the grain handlers' union, which is on strike here for increased pay. Three important exporting firms are still resisting the demands of the union. The new scale demanded by the men provides for the payment of 40 cents an hour straight time and 60 cents an hour overtime. This is an increase of five cents on straight time and ten cents increase on overtime.

SLAYER SAVED FROM GALLOWS BY PARDON

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 22.—Frank Pearl, murderer, was saved from death by hanging yesterday when the board of pardons at special meeting commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. Recently the supreme court denied him a new trial. Pearl was convicted of killing a man of the name of Held in Humboldt county in a dispute over wages.

BANDIT IS SLAIN BY STATION AGENT

Robber Caught in the Act of Looting Depot and is Shot Through the Heart.

STOCKTON, Sept. 22.—Information was received here last night that a man caught in the act of robbing the Southern Pacific railroad station at Ft. Colbaugh this evening, was shot dead by the agent. The station had been closed for the day, and M. L. Reynolds, the agent, retired to his rooms upstairs. He was surprised at about 6:20 to hear a noise in the agent's room downstairs.

Taking a .38-caliber revolver he made his way to the ground floor and discovered a man rifling the drawers in his office. Without hesitating, he rushed in upon the intruder and ordered him to throw up his hands. The robber, taken completely by surprise, turned and made a wicked swing at the agent who was so close upon the thief that the latter did not have time to use his revolver. Reynolds fired one shot, which passed through the robber's heart, killing him instantly.

The shooting attracted the attention of quite a number of people, but none of them recognized the dead man, who was undoubtedly a stranger in that section. He was fairly well-dressed, which would indicate that he was not a tramp but probably a man who has traveled some. The body is being held for the coroner.

HEVD HONORED.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Dr. Herman E. E. Heyd of Buffalo has been elected president of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

GULFPORT, Miss.—Miss Mary Jane Brunson, a winsome brunette of twenty summers, credited with having caused the election of Patrick Harrison to Congress from the Sixth Congressional District of Mississippi over J. R. T. by 1239 votes in the second primary.

Her success in a campaign lasting three months has attracted the attention of W. A. Bledson, candidate for Congress in the Seventh District, who is opposed by Thomas S. Elton. This primary will be decided September 21.

Miss Brunson has gone to Brookhaven and is to receive a fee of $5000 from the campaign.

The chief assets of Miss Brunson in the Harrison campaign were her openwork hosiery and gauze-like stockings. When she appeared before an audience in her bewitching and cool summer garb the men had to succumb.
